

Ward Lashes Out at Forced Campaigning

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Governor-elect Lee Ward charged last night that persons in his section of Arkansas were being forced to campaign for Gov. Orval Faubus to get jobs with the state Highway Department.

Ward said this was because the highway commissioner from that section—northeast Arkansas—was appointed by Faubus.

"I want to keep that sort of thing out of the highway department," the Paragould chamberlain declared in a speech to the Sevier County Club at nearby Jacksonville.

Ward did not name the highway commissioner he referred to, James H. Crain of Wilson, is the only Faubus appointee who lives in northeast Arkansas. Ward said the governor "has no business interfering in the affairs of the highway department."

Ward said he did not believe in school integration but he sharply criticized Faubus' actions of last fall which for a time blocked the entrance of Negroes to Central High School.

He said he felt if Faubus had not called out troops, the situation could have been settled in court. He said it still might be solved that way.

Earlier at Pine Bluff, Ward promised to veto any legislative proposal for a new tax increase if he is elected.

Addressing a civic club, he proposed three steps to cut down complaints about taxes in Arkansas. They were:

1. Blocking any increases in present taxes.
2. Conserving revenues now being received.
3. Finding ways to reduce current tax rates.

Ward, asserting "the time has come when the citizens must elect someone to do something about taxes," devoted most of his address to the state tax program.

But he also criticized Gov. Orval Faubus' administration on the issues of school integration and the operation of some state agencies.

He cited salary increases recently given to members of the state Public Service Commission and blasted creation of the Arkansas Commerce Commission. He said the two groups should be consolidated with three men at the helm, instead of the present six.

Ward termed Faubus' action in last year's Little Rock integration crisis "inexcusable" and said it "accomplished nothing and has solved no problem."

The impressive A. B. Banks house at Fortney, decorated with classic porticoes and balustraded roofs, was constructed about 1910.

Studebaker-Packard Sales Increase

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Harold E. Churchill, president, Studebaker-Packard Corporation, today announced that Studebaker-Packard has scored successive sales rises in four consecutive ten-day periods.

He said there was a 5 per cent increase in the first ten days of March over the last ten days of February; and 18.89 per cent boost in the second ten days of March over the first; and an 11 per cent rise in sales during the last ten days over the second.

Although the sun is nearest the earth in the winter season of the northern hemisphere, it gives us less heat then because the earth's position is such that the rays come down slantwise and a given amount of heat is distributed over much more surface than in summer.

Segregation Group Attacks S. Baptists

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Southern Baptists were under attack today by Texas segregationists accusing the denomination of fostering "race-mixing trends."

A flood of literature, bearing the imprint of the state white Citizens' Council, was distributed among the approximately 15,000 representatives to the denomination's annual convention.

The material cited Old Testament scripture seeking to show segregation was ordained by God. The printed charges also claimed that Baptist publications have "an increasing integrationist content."

the material variously as "truth distorted," "an inaccurate picture" or "unfair."

At last night's sessions in Houston's Coiseum, many of the church "messenger" held copies of the matter in their hands, reading it during the program.

A report on the racial situation comes before the meeting today. It calls for closer Baptist "communication and fellowship with people of every race and nationality."

"We must move to reclaim for all citizens of this country the full heritage of American freedoms," says the report of the denomination's Christian Life Commission.

Meantime, the re-election of Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) as convention president was seen by some as a victory for those favoring brotherly Southern Baptist relations with other churches.

Commented the Rev. Dr. A. Hope Owen, president of Wayland Baptist College, of Plainview, Texas:

"The election reflects the feeling among a majority of Southern Baptists that we should maintain a friendly, mutually helpful attitude toward other Christians, and not draw into an aloof corner."

Hays, a long-time church lay leader and a veteran house member, was re-elected overwhelmingly in a race with two others, one described as opposing interdenominational cooperation.

L. F. Minis of Seattle, Wash., said in nominating the Rev. Dr. Robert E. Milam, of Portland, Ore., that Dr. Milam would safeguard Southern Baptist freedoms to win new territory.

He criticized the National and World Councils of Churches and said comity agreements, by which denominations seek to avoid head-on competition, were limiting congregational autonomy to operate as they wish.

Southern Baptists don't belong to the national or world council, nor do they join in comity pacts with non-Baptists. However, their common work with Northern and other Baptists has increased greatly.

Furthermore, the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Quarles, of Jackson, Miss., newly elected first vice president of the convention, said: "Southern Baptist friendliness with other Christian bodies is increasing yearly."

Dr. Quarles was elected in a tight contest with two other nominees, the Rev. Dr. Bruce H. Price, of Newport News, Va., and the Rev. Dr. Harold Seever, of Mobile, Ala.

By acclamation, the convention elected the Rev. Archie Ellis, of Columbia, S.C., as second vice president, and re-elected these other officers without opposition.

James W. Merritt, of Gainsville, Ga., as senior secretary; Joe W. Burton, of Nashville, Tenn., as secretary; and Dr. Porter Routh, of Nashville, as treasurer. Routh also is executive secretary.

Routh, as executive secretary, also is the convention's chief administrative officer.

Concerning the contest that developed over the presidency, Hays has backed fraternal relationships with other Protestant faiths, though not advocating organizational ties with them.

Dr. Milam, on the other hand, has pressed for a policy that would give Southern Baptists more freedom to move into areas previously dominated by others.

He has offered a constitutional amendment that would allow the denomination to bring its churches in Canada. This cannot be acted on until a year from now.

Regarding race relationships, a keen issue among Southern Baptists, Hays also has taken a moderate position, and played a conciliatory role in his home state.

Dr. Quarles, the new vice president, also termed himself a moderate on the problem. He also told a news conference:

"I'm a segregationist. I do not think segregation is un-Christian. I believe in the equal worth of every human soul, but there are practical difficulties one must face in the Christian religion."

He said the Mississippi Baptist Convention, whose board he heads, devotes the largest part of its budget to work with Negroes, but that integration "would be an injustice to Negroes at the present time."

Dodger Hurlers Glad to Be Away From LA

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Don Drysdale says he and the other members of the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching corps are glad to be away from the Coliseum and "The Thing" for a while.

"The Thing," of course, is "The Fence"—a 42-foot receiver of stolen goods in left field, 250 feet from home plate.

"The Coliseum can't help the pitchers," Drysdale said Wednesday after beating the Milwaukee Braves 2-1 with the help of re-

Nixon Steps Into Dulles' Back Yard

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon steps right into Secretary of State Dulles' back yard and calls for a reappraisal of American policy toward Latin America. Dulles has not admitted a single error in handling Latin Americans.

Does this look like the beginning of a head-on collision between the two men? It's not likely. Nothing Nixon has publicly proposed so far, or is expected to propose, goes much beyond generalities.

Since both men are key members of the Eisenhower administration—and haven't locked horns since they took office in 1953—there's no reason to expect conflict now.

Nixon, the most likely Republican presidential candidate in 1960, will hardly do anything to split the party or hand the Democrats' bricksbats for free. And Dulles has enough troubles all around the world without taking on Nixon.

The vice president, home after facing mob violence in Peru and Venezuela and hostile demonstrations almost everywhere he went in Latin America, talked to a National Press Club luncheon Wednesday.

He took a poke at the diplomats who work for Dulles' State Department—but this was far from a poke at Dulles—by saying it's high time the diplomats in Latin America pay more attention to labor leaders, students and newspapermen there.

He jibed at them for spending too much time and attention on the cocktail and white tie dinner circuits.

While Dulles brushed aside at his Tuesday news conference any idea that there is broad anti-Americanism in Latin America, Nixon did say it would be a great mistake to attribute to the Communists all the troubles he encountered.

He pointed out such causes of Latin-American resentment—which he said the Communists exploited—as these: a belief this country has supported dictatorships; and a decline in Latin-American exports to this country.

Dulles has acknowledged some economic factors are behind the Latin-American demonstrations. And he talked at length on American policy towards dictators without indicating any change.

It is understood Nixon in a couple of weeks will recommend to President Eisenhower and Dulles some ideas for offsetting Communist influence in Latin America. For instance, a colder attitude towards dictators.

But Nixon himself on his tour created some ill will for this country by stopping off in Paraguay and showing friendship for South America's last remaining dictator, Paraguayan President, Alfredo Stroessner.

Brian Bell, Associated Press reporter in Argentina, wrote of the effects of Nixon's visit with Stroessner as follows:

"Diplomatic sources in Buenos Aires said Nixon's visit to Paraguay might have triggered the riots he encountered later in Peru and Venezuela. Bell quoted one diplomat as saying: 'When Nixon included Paraguay in his trip, many South Americans took this liegar Clem Labine. 'All it can do is put us all in a hole.'"

Drysdale, who is off to a small, like start with 2 victories and 7 defeats, said no one likes to use the misshapen ball park as an alibi.

"But," he added, "the fact remains that most pitchers make adjustments when they pitch there and get thrown out of kilter. It's pretty hard to get back in the groove again pitching there."

"All you can think about is The Thing and those right-handed hitters coming up there taking a head on it."

"That's why this road trip should do us all some good. Maybe we can get out of our bad habits, such as trying to pitch too fine to right-handed hitters."

"We probably tried too hard during those first few weeks. We wanted to get off to a real good start to repay the Los Angeles fans and we got to pressing. No one can win then."

DOROTHY DIX

Once-Stung Boy Is Marriage Shy

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been dating a girl for the past two months, seeing her every Saturday. How can I tell her I have been married? I don't want to hurt her. I was the innocent party in the failure of my marriage and am very hesitant to try again. I like this girl and would like to hurt her, but feel she should know the facts.

Dear Adrian: You must tell the girl before she gets ideas of her own. She'll be visualizing a ring on her finger before you can break the news that you're no ring bearer. It shouldn't be difficult to bring the conversation around to marriage and divorce so you can confess your past. Don't be dramatic; tell the story simply and be sure to stress the point that you are definitely not window shopping at present.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is a very sociable person and has friends in all walks of life. He gives us everything we need and is a wonderful husband and father. He does have one fault, that bothers me. One or two nights a week he goes out drinking with friends and often gets home after midnight. How can I let him know this is making me nervous?

Dear Dorothy: You're trying to make something out of nothing. Your man is a gregarious creature while you are the silent type. When he wants conversation he sits down and talks with other men. The fact that they take a drink during the course of the confabs surely isn't enough to make a nervous wreck of you. I wonder if it's the drinking that bothers you or the fact that he's out having a good time without you. Stop fretting.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm the very happy mother of two babies, and hope to have many more. My mother-in-law had 16 children and every time she comes here she tries to discourage me about having more babies. Her kids all turned out fine, are very good to her and I don't see where she has any complaint. Her words are beginning to have an effect, though. I find myself getting impatient with the youngsters, a thing I never did before she started on this campaign.

Dear Ellen: The tragedy of gossip, or insidious propaganda, is that it we listen to it long enough it does take effect. Only the very strong minded can close their ears and minds to the sort of talk your mother in law has been feeding you. She's just a troublemaker and the sooner you face the fact the better. If you want a big family don't let anyone discourage you. You're heading for the greatest blessing a woman can have. If some women, like your mother in law, must find fault with their families, don't let them do it around you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are identical twins. Our parents insist that we dress alike until we get out of high school. We want to be individuals. What can we do to get our parents to let us be different from each other? The Griffin Twins

Dear Twins: Gentle persuasion is always the best way to win a point. If your folks simply won't listen to reason, go out and buy different clothes even if it takes all your baby-sitting money. It's ridiculous to make two grown-up girls keep up the role of darling twin babies. Mom had her fun; now it's your turn.

This Kid Knows What He Wants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In a composition titled "What I Would Like to Be Right Now," read by School Sup. Harold H. Erling at a Columbus School Board meeting, a 9-year-old wrote:

"I would like to be a father of two children and be president of a bank. Because I like kids and banks. To be a president of a bank you have to have a good record, and no time in the pen. You would have to go to a bank college (sic) and to be a father it's natural and easy."

as a direct snap at their hard fight for democratic government. It is difficult to see why Paraguay was included in Nixon's tour.

Nehru Gives Important Assist to Tito

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India has given Yugoslav President Tito an important assist in his latest dispute with the Russian Communists.

Addressing a convention of his Indian Congress Party, Nehru said Moscow's threat to read Tito out of the world Communist movement constituted interference by a foreign country in Yugoslav domestic affairs.

Nehru also referred sarcastically to the way in which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung had checked their liberalization movement when members of their parties showed a dangerous tendency to do some independent thinking.

Nehru recalled that Mao, in his short-lived invitation to Chinese Reds and non-Reds to criticize the party, said: "Let a hundred flowers bloom and a hundred opinions flourish."

Now, Nehru said, "all the flowers have become weeds to be pulled out."

Tito Studying Ultimatum
Nehru's support for Tito's policy of independent Communism came at the moment when Tito was studying the ultimatum in which the central committee of the Russian Communist Party threatened him with dire penalties unless he took the party line.

Bulgarian dispatches say Nehru's statement made a profound impression there.

It was a welcome counter to the determined campaign which the Russian Communists have been waging against Tito as part of which they have required Communists in both Red-ruled and free countries to denounce him.

It is reported that Tito is now drafting his reply to the Moscow ultimatum and that it will be sent to Moscow in a few days in the name of the central committee of the Yugoslav party.

Will Maintain Independence
Advisors say the reply will urge the Russians to agree that disputes among Communists should be argued out in a friendly way. But the reply will leave Khrushchev and his colleagues in no doubt that Tito intends to maintain his independence whatever "Neutralist" Nehru's criticism the east may be.

of the Russian and Chinese Reds was aimed also at the Indian Communist Party.

Nehru said the Indian Reds sent a message of good will to Tito last month during a congress of the Yugoslav Communist Party but when Moscow opened up its new attack on him, the Indian Reds sent him another message, quite contradictory, criticizing his independence.

Nehru's criticism of the Russian and Chinese Communists, as well as his own, may have been inspired by the fact that his Congress Party, dominant over the Indian Reds, has lost its independence, is losing ground to various opposition groups including the Communists.

A Republican surveyor was responsible for naming Grant county and its county seat, Sheridan, after two Yankee generals.

Postal Bill Ready for Final Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the White House today a bill to raise the cost of a first-class letter from 3 to 4 cents and an airmail letter from 6 to 7 cents.

The rate hikes will take effect Aug. 1 if President Eisenhower signs the bill.

The measure also carries wage increases for post office workers aggregating 330 million dollars a year—more than Eisenhower proposed.

The House sent the compromise measure to the White House after brief discussion. The Senate passed it Wednesday 88-0.

The bill provides for an overall increase in postal rates of an estimated 350 million dollars annually.

As a revenue producer, the bill falls about 180 million dollars short of what the President wanted, while the raises it provides for 520,000 postal employees total 220 million dollars more than Eisenhower proposed.

The bill is a compromise of measures passed separately by the House and Senate. Its major provision is for an increase from 3 to 4 cents in the cost of mailing a first-class letter. This accounts for about 350 million dollars of new revenues.

Boosts in rates on letters, post cards, air mail and books would become effective Aug. 1.

Rates on newspapers and magazines and on advertising matter would also be increased, in stages, starting Jan. 1.

The compromise bill does not contain the Senate provision permitting military personnel having Army Post Office or Fleet Post Office addresses abroad to send letters free.

House conferees who insisted on elimination of the provision.

Career Girls Do Well in Foreign Lands

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Turn an American career girl loose in a foreign country and international relations start improving right away.

A case in point is pretty Florence Pritchett Smith, former model, fashion editor and radio commentator, now busily fostering good will as wife of the U.S. ambassador to Cuba, Earl E. T. Smith. In New York to promote a scholarship for talented young Cuban designers, this glamorous adjunct to the diplomatic service says:

"Everyone is being simply wonderful. (After seeing how you can understand why) I have six of the best-known fashion manufacturers, industrial designers and retailers in the country who will guarantee jobs to the scholarship winners in New York, and a comparable group in Cuba who will offer them equal salaries and opportunities to come back home after a year's study, and a year's work here."

Florence was born in New Jersey, started work as a New York model at the age of 15, later became fashion editor of the New York Journal-American. She ran her own radio show, then quit that to marry Smith.

"He is my longest-term sponsor—10 years. And being his wife is the best job I ever had," she says.

Along with her official duties as ambassador's wife, she is in the fashion business, designing her own line of party and hostess clothes for a New York manufacturer.

She is active in work with the women's clubs of Cuba, heads an organization of wives of embassy employees and takes every opportunity to talk to Cuban women.

"I don't understand why people worry about whether to choose marriage or a career. I've found being a wife merely multiplies careers—and all of them are more fun," she says.

More Money for Foreign Aid Asked

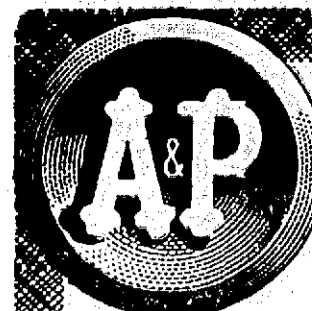

WASHINGTON (AP)—An additional 100 million dollars for possible emergency foreign aid use was sought today from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which already has tentatively restored 220 millions of House cuts.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed giving President Eisenhower the full 200-million-dollar emergency fund he asked. The House had cut that item in half as part of its 338-million-dollar slash in Eisenhower's over-all $3,949,000,000 foreign aid program for the year starting July 1.

The committee in tentatively voice votes Wednesday approved an authorization of $1,600,000,000 for military assistance, abroad, and 200 million dollars for foreign economic supplies. These are designed to enable allies to maintain military forces their own economies cannot afford alone.

Cotton to Be Planted by End of Week

LITTLE ROCK, Mo.—Most of eastern Arkansas' rain-delayed cotton crop is expected to be planted by the end of this week. If sunshine and warm weather hold out.

But as a result of the emphasis on cotton, soybean progress is slow. The federal-state weekly crop report said yesterday. Large scale soybean planting is expected to begin next week.

The report said the Arkansas strawberry harvest is well under way in central and northwest areas and additional pickers are needed. Second cluster blooms were reported in some tomato fields of south Arkansas.

Ethel and Bobby of Pine Bluff were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Imen Gee and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gee.

Baptists Gear For Bigger Future

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Pausing frequently to sing a hymn, pray or hear a sermon, Southern Baptists today began gearing their massive denomination for a bigger future.

And they also pondered plans that they do something about improving the status of Negroes in the South and to promote world peace.

It was the first working day of the week-long Southern Baptist Convention, which opened last night with worship, speech-making and colorful pageantry.

President Eisenhower sent warm greetings.

The vast gathering—about 15,000 strong—gave an applauding send-off to an unprecedented program linking all Baptists on the continent in a united expansion drive.

Called the "Baptist Jubilee Advance," it will call Baptists of six national conventions—North and South, Negro and white—in a six-day regular meeting enlarging the Baptist faith.

The Rev. Dr. W. A. Criswell, of Dallas, called the plan a "tidal, spiritual movement" that will "be staggering in its total impact upon the Americans."

It's the first time all Baptists have joined in any such effort. There are about 20 million of them altogether, this nation's largest Protestant family.

Nearly half are Southern Baptists, concentrated in the Southland but now spreading rapidly throughout much of the West and North.

In a keynote speech, the convention president, Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) proposed establishment of a Baptist "peace committee."

"Nothing we could do would be more important right now," he said.

The recommendation was scheduled for action later.

Under Hays' plan, elaborated at a news conference, the committee would explore methods and offer guidance on how to exert the denomination's influence in behalf of measures for peace.

It would seek mutual steps by counterparts in other Baptist bodies, Hays said, adding:

"This could be extremely significant in channelling the tremendous influence that Baptists have in the world. It's a way of getting Christian principle applied in international affairs."

The congressman-church leader also urged the convention to tackle other social ills—including racial conflicts—without timidity. And he called for new ideas in solving the race problem.

On the same subject, the Rev. Dr. W. O. Vaught Jr. of Little Rock, Ark., said earlier that Southern Baptists "must give a new evaluation to the real meaning of true democracy."

How, he asked, can missionaries take a gospel of love and salvation to other races and nations "while we have this great race problem unsolved on our own doorstep?"

He told the assembled local-church "messengers" of the South's biggest Christian body that new action is needed to break down the walls of racial hatred, misinformation and prejudice.

Democracy cannot triumph over communism in the world unless it is made "so virtually fair" that it will give every man justice "regardless of race or creed," he said, and added:

"If our present patterns of racial difference and social difference give liberty and justice to one and deny the same from another, it is not 'true democracy.'"

Baptist traditions put much stress on democracy, the autonomy of congregations and freedom of the individual from ecclesiastical edicts or pronouncements.

Hays, touching on this point, said that the convention, nonetheless, must not hesitate to "seek and proclaim moral judgments, produced by study, prayer and exchange of opinions."

In regard to racial tensions, he defended the denomination's frequently criticized Christian Life Commission in its work to remedy social ills.

President Eisenhower said in his message to the convention here: "This great congregation, inspired by a long tradition of faith and good work, represents a most constructive force in the life of our people."

Thinks State Mixes Bullets and Ballots

LITTLE ROCK, Mo.—Apparently some "danganykes" are under the impression that Arkansas mix bullets with their ballots, a state official reveals.

Geologist F. Norman Williams got a call from Washington yesterday, informing him that an Indian geologist wants to visit Arkansas about the end of July.

Williams said someone "high up" realized Arkansas would be holding its primary election about that time, he said. "They wanted to know if it would be safe for his man to come to Arkansas, then, or should his schedule be changed."

The election will be held July 20. "I slowly counted to 100 while my temper cooled off," Williams said, "and asked them what kind of hotel accommodations the man wanted."

Robin Back in Business for Philadelphia Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Robin Roberts is back where he belongs—among the elite of the pitching fraternity.

Once the premier pitcher of the only 10 while losing 22 last year. There were widespread rumors that his days with the Philadelphia Phillies were numbered.

It was not until his last exhibition start this past spring that the 31-year-old Roberts was assured of a starting berth again.

Now Robb the great is Philadelphia's fair-haired boy again. Wednesday night when he hurled the Phillies to a spine-tingling 1-0 triumph over red-hot St. Louis. Furthermore, he broke up a scoreless duel with Sam Jones with a ringing eight-inning double that drove in the lone run.

The San Francisco Giants defeated Cincinnati 5-4 in 10 innings to increase their first-place margin over Milwaukee to 2½ games. Los Angeles made it two in a row over the Braves, 2-1 and Chicago thrashed Pittsburgh 5-1.

Willie Mays won the game for the Giants with a 10th-inning home run, his 12th of the season. Willie also had two singles and his sacrifice fly brought in the tying run in the seventh when the Giants helped out a 4-3 Cincinnati lead. Milwaukee's third Giants pitcher, received credit for the victory with 114 leftouts, losing it.

Giants' Cinnoli drove in both Dodger runs with his fifth home run in the first inning and cut down Milwaukee's lead for a tie in the seventh with a strong throw from center field that nipped Wes Covington at the plate. Don Drysdale won his second game for Los Angles. Bob Ruth lost it.

Wall Morgan drove in three runs with a home run and single and Taylor Phillips hurled a five-inning for his second triumph in Chicago's victory over Pittsburgh. Bob Porterfield was the loser.

Hogan Has Eyes on National Open

NEW YORK — Ben Hogan, known as the tournament circuit as The Hawk, has his eyes sharpened for a grab at his 11th National Open championship. "I never have seen Ben play better," said Claude Harmon, just back from the tournament at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. "I wouldn't bet against him as Hogan."

Hogan finished third in the tournament last week-end, just a shot back of his old rival, Sam Snead, and young Gary Player of South Africa, who tied with 264. Snead won the title in a playoff.

"You have to go with the old men again at Tulsa," Harmon, Masters champion in 1948 and one of Hogan's closest friends, said. "Hogan, Snied and Jimmy Demarest. That's a good 1-2-3 bet." The Open is scheduled June 12-14 at Southern Hills in Tulsa. Hogan will be bidding to become the only player in the game to win five U. S. Open championships.

UNNEEDED Metal armor for ships was unnecessary until mid-19th century because artillery until then could not pierce heavy wooden timbers, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Indians Are Putting Up a Stubborn Fight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No Herb Score. No Bob Lemon. No Early Wynn. And very very little of Mike Garcia, the last of Cleveland's Big Four.

Only Ray Narleski, Don Messi, Cal McLish and Hoyt Wilhelm, Cal received relievers. And such practically unknowns as Jim Grant, Don Ferrarese, Bob Kelly and Dick Tomaneck. Yet the Indians are putting up a stubborn battle.

They demonstrated that again Wednesday when they turned back Boston 3-2 in 12 innings. Tomaneck, an unheralded left-hander, went all the way. The victory boosted Cleveland back into fourth place.

Baltimore made it two straight over Detroit with a 3-1 triumph while Kansas City was beaten by Washington 6-1. The New York Yankees continued their massacre of the rest of the league by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-2.

Gus Triandos and Gene Woodling drove in three runs each to help the Orioles inflict the seventh straight loss on the Tigers. Triandos rapped two home runs and Woodling a homer and a single. Ken Lehman won his first game with a nifty relief chore.

Homo runs by Ken Aspromonte, Jim Lemon and Norm Zaucha spelled defeat for Ralph Terry of the Athletics. Russ Kemmerer posted his first victory with a four-hitter.

Home runs also paved the way for the Yankees' eighth straight victory. After Chicago had taken a 2-0 lead on three batters by Elston Howard and Al Smith, the Yankees tied the score on Elston Howard's two-run blow in the fifth and tallied the winning runs when Gil McDougald tagged Billy Pierce for a three-run wallop in the sixth.

Whitey Ford won his fourth in six decisions with a nine-hitter. Pierce, who has won only one game this season, dropped his fourth.

CHAPTER 16

"I suppose these methods would work," Torcido said finally. "Would you be willing to give us a document, signed on Miss Melaney's behalf, stating the use to which the manuscript would be put, if found?"

I nodded. "I'll write it out right now if you like."

"No need," he said, waving his hand. "When you return to your hotel you may write it out and send it over. We will then send to you the permissions you require." One of his hands disappeared beneath the desk for a minute.

"Thank you," I said.

"Do nada," he said. "Now as I told you, when you desire to come up and see my little private museum I shall be most happy to show you through it personally. As for your mission, we shall offer you every co-operation."

I heard the door back of me open.

"You wished to see me, Excellency?" a man's voice asked. It was a curiously cultivated voice yet with a silky hardness to it that is seldom associated with such a voice.

"Yes, come in Raimundo," Torcido said.

I turned to look at the newcomer. Like everyone else who reads a newspaper, I had seen his photograph many times. This was Raimundo Perrota, the international diplomat for the Monican Republic.

He looked to be about 50 although his black hair was generously streaked with gray. He was, I suppose, handsome by almost any standards, but there was a kind of aloof cruelty in his face.

"Raimundo," Torcido said, "this is Senor Milo March from America. Senor March, Senor Raimundo Perrota."

"Senor March," Perrota said.

"Senor March is here on a mission for a wealthy American lady," Torcido said, "for which we have granted permission. You will give him any assistance he may wish."

"With pleasure," Perrota said.

"Thank you, Generalissimo," I said and looked at Perrota.

"We will go to my office," he said. He led the way toward the door. We had just reached it when Torcido spoke again.

"Senor March," he said.

I looked around.

"Your army records, I am told," he said, "show you to be a very clever man. I flatter myself that I am a keen observer of men. After spending these few minutes with you, it occurs to me that you may be more clever than the records show. Either that or one of the bravest men I have ever met."

"You flatter me, Your Excellency," I said. "In the Army if one can add two and two one is considered clever. And nothing could require less bravery than my present mission. A manuscript can hardly fight back."

"We went down the corridor for three or four doors and turned into another office. It was a replica of Torcido's except that it was smaller. Perrota waved me to a chair beside his desk.

"This mission of yours, Mr. March—did I hear you say it involved a manuscript?"

"Yes, My client believes that there is an original Christopher Columbus manuscript somewhere there is an original Christopher Columbus manuscript somewhere I have been commissioned to try to find it."

"The client would be the wealthy lady I suppose. Would it be indiscreet to inquire who she is?"

"Miss Merry Mellany."

His eyebrows went up. "You know her well?" he asked.

"Quite well," I said.

"I've always wanted to meet her," he said. "Oh, well, I confess the ladies are my one weakness, but I presume we must get to business. What can I do to assist you and the charming Miss Mellany?"

"I don't believe anything at the moment," I said. "I intend to place ads in the papers and to hire a car with a driver who knows his way around and visit some of the old homes where there might be antiquities. So at the moment, I'm going back to the hotel, write a note to the Generalissimo, call my ad in to the papers and then do something about hiring a car and getting started."

"There, at least," he said, "I can help you. There are many cars for hire in Puerto Torcido but, alas, not all of them are reliable. Nor are all the drivers."

There were three phones on his desk. He pulled one of them to him and dialed a number.

"Perrota here," he said a moment later. "There is a Senor Milo March from the United States—" he looked up at me and asked—"Where are you staying?"

"Torcido Hotel," I said.

"—staying at the Torcido Hotel," he continued into the phone.

"He wishes to rent a car and a driver for several days, but it must be a good car and the driver must know every inch of our country. You will take care of this at once?"

He listened and nodded. "Good, good," he hung up and smiled at me. "The best car and driver in the Monican Republic will be at your hotel waiting for you when you need it."

Old Cars Travel Arkansas Highway

LITTLE ROCK — Motorists traveling along one of Arkansas' newest and busiest highways—U. S. 7-70 south of Little Rock—will get a glimpse of the past next Sunday.

That's the day picked for a trip between Little Rock and Benton of 25 to 30 old cars, ranging from a 1905 Cadillac to a 1933 Essex.

The project is sponsored by the Arkansas Traveler Antique Auto Club.

The Sunday afternoon drive will be a preliminary to a Mid-South meeting of antique automobile enthusiasts at Little Rock June 12-15.

Sen. Fulbright Raps Foreign Policy Plan

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), in declaring the Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy is floundering, today called for some long range planning by the State Department.

Fulbright, second Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that as he views it "our policy planning staff has broken down, we are floundering, we have no idea where we are going the next few years."

Fulbright yesterday was named to a Foreign Relations subcommittee to look into the possibility of an examination of U. S. foreign policy throughout the world along the lines of a study conducted last year by the Committee on Foreign Aid.

This study involved use not only of committee staff members but also of economic and business experts who help draft reports on conditions in various countries.

Fulbright said it appears to him that the United States' foreign policy is conducted almost on a day to day basis.

It appears, he said, that the secretary of state "gets up each morning, asks what case is up that

ROT SPRINGS, Ark. — The Arkansas Wholesale Grocers Assn., Inc., opened its 48th annual convention here today.

Pilot Recovering From Plane Crash

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — A crop duster pilot who was injured seriously in the crash of his plane near Pine Bluff was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Bill B. Smith, 27, of Pine Bluff suffered a broken back, a broken leg and other injuries when his plane fell in a swampy section about 12 miles south of here yesterday.

Attendants at a Pine Bluff hospital said Smith was "holding his own." They said his condition was not considered critical.

Smith was sowing rice when the plane crash occurred. No reason

Commission to Sell Downtown Building

LITTLE ROCK — The Arkansas Workmen's Compensation Commission plans to sell its downtown building here to help pay rent on its new office in the recently completed Justice Building on the State Capitol grounds.

Bids on the property will be received June 1 in the office of Gov. Orval Faubus.

The 3-story brick building up for sale was built by the state and occupied by the commission in 1948.
